Dr. Murphy was my direct supervisor when he was the Executive and Commanding officer at Naval Hospital Bremerton. I was his executive secretary, he always treated me with respect and as a equal. It is hard to believe five years has passed since your father left this old earth for heavenly glory. We proudly honor his remarkable journey. His legacy as a gentleman, friend, and mentor continues to inspire Michael and me, illuminating his path of kindness and compassion. We admire his unwavering commitment to Christian values, demonstrating unconditional love and devotion to family, friends, and community. Our shared memories remain precious, and we value the connection between our families. May the Prince of Peace provide solace and direction. Bob's enduring legacy serves as a shining testament to his exceptional character, he provided all his children a loving father's guidance has prepared them for a bright future. We appreciate your family's generosity and feel humbled to have known him.

I am a medical classmate of Dr. Murphy and a friend of Bob and Kim's for over 40 years. I loved Bob and admired him. He wrote thebook on perseverance. Plugging his LVAD in and going to work. Most would have chosen disability. Not Bob. He was too proud.....proud of his wife Kim and family, the Navy, his medical career. I met his family in 1968 when he started medical school at Creighton University. What a family. No wonder he turned out so well. As he obtained his MD degree in 1972 and his orthopedic and hand credentials, he began to shine. Trustworthy, dedicated, proud to be a physician. Courageous to carry on despite his serious cardiac condition. Talk about a heart of gold. He would do anything for you. Such a friend. Such a Christian. Dedicated to the Lord. His prayer novenas brought us hope and peace. His legacy will be one of love of life, love of family and friends, a man of honor, with medicaltalent and skill. He showed us the key to life....."Attitude is everything". Rest in peace Murph! Art Dorrington MD
